(Costa Mesa, California) – July 20, 2015 – Costa Mesa First’s initiative for an ordinance to give the people of Costa Mesa control of their future was published in The Daily Pilot on July 17, 2015. The next step will be qualifying the initiative for the ballot in 2016 by collecting signatures on petitions that will begin to be circulated this week.

The initiative was given the title “An Initiative to Require Voter Approval on Certain Development Projects”, by the City Attorney, who also prepared a summary of the initiative.

“Our members are getting ready to gather signatures.” stated Rick Huffman of Costa Mesa First. “We are pleased that so many want to participate in the democratic process.”

Volunteers will begin collecting signatures next week by canvassing in various public places throughout the City and going door-to-door in their neighborhoods. Many residents have already contacted Costa Mesa First about circulating the petition.

“The response to the articles in the newspapers and blogs has been fabulous,” said Jay Humphrey, “and we believe we will get the signatures we need to get the initiative on the ballot. Any support would be appreciated and any resident interested in helping in any way can contact us by email or by our website: CostaMesa1st.com.”
